Horizons4Girls Mission

Horizons4Girls mentors girls in a safe setting, sparking their internal motivation. Horizons works on solutions - helping to keep their girls in a safe supportive family setting, as they complete their educational & personal goals, and keeping them out of the juvenile justice system.

Horizons4Girls works to create contributing citizens of our communities.

Greetings to students, families, teachers, counselors, donors, social workers:

This newsletter will come out every 6-8 weeks with what we hope is useful information - you may unsubscribe below to not receive any further emails. If you like what you see, please forward to someone else.

We have seen unbelievable results in the last 24 months, from failing grades to honor roll, from disengaged in school to planning for college, from family fights to engaged community service.

Read one of our success stories RIGHT HERE.

We continue to match our students with a mentor that they can meet one on one with and share special moments with. We have done field trips all over the County, from art, to agriculture, to civil engineering. We have done job shadowing that includes attorneys, art therapists, administrative positions and much more.

Volunteers are trained using 40 Developmental Assets, PBIS, Juvenile Justice research

And, oh yes besides our mentors, we have volunteers that might tutor, helping plan programming, help with PR or bookkeeping.

Share this email with others and let us know if you'd like more info. Words from one of the SASD social workers tells about the importance of what we do - in fact she is currently redoing this video to talk about the successes we are having.

Guess What!!! YOU'RE INVITED!!

We are having a potluck taco dinner. Everyone brings ONE item for the tacos and we set-up a make-your-own taco bar. Students, teachers, counselors, social workers, donors AND their families are welcome. It will be a fun social evening for everyone to get to know each other. Tuesday, October 29th, 5:30pm, or as soon as you can make it. At First Congregational Church, 310 Bluff Avenue, Sheboygan – right by Vollrath Park. Just RSVP to this email and tell us what you'd like to bring!!

Sincerely,

Twenty years from now.....

thoughts from one of our students

A day in my life ... as the 2nd richest person in the world. I live in California with my loving husband Eric and twins, a boy and a girl. I got rich by finding a cure for tons of animal diseases. I turned into the best veterinarian.

I took an advanced physiology and biology class in high school. I also took a medical terminology course and an animal-health course in high school. I went to the top animal college in Miami and graduated with a biology and physiology major.

I love my job and life, and wouldn't have done anything different. I got to take my mother swimming with dolphins in Hawaii like I had promised. My mom and dad each died at the same time; my mom was 100 and my dad was 95.

You Talk

We'll listen

Whatever you might have on your mind we want to give you a chance to talk about it. We may not have the answers, but we'll find the answers together. Horizons4Girls will do various group discussions as well as offer one on one mentoring.

Horizons4Girls also has professional counselors available.

Me volunteering??

The answer is yes....here's why:

I chose to volunteer for Horizons4Girls because it had the potential to meet a variety of needs in my life. I went to college to be a teacher because my passion is to inspire young people to do great things for themselves and their community. After my student teaching experience I decided the traditional classroom wasn't the right fit, for my professional goals, at this time. My career counselor encouraged me to volunteer while I search for the right career path.

I'm going to be honest, and I'm sure there are others that may feel the same way I did. When my career counselor suggested I volunteer I was very reluctant. I couldn't help but think, "if I have time to volunteer why shouldn't I be using that time to make money?". I now have a plethora of reasons why volunteering was the right choice for me. First I am able to make appropriate use of the skills and experiences I have, while developing new ones. This is why people often say volunteering looks great on a resume.

The next thing I realized while volunteering; the work I'm doing is much more satisfying and meaningful than my current job. The work I do as a volunteer is rather flexible, and a huge part of the satisfaction comes because no matter how much time you are able to commit it is appreciated, and the organization won't take it for granted. A lot of people don't find satisfaction in their jobs because they feel their coworkers and managers take them for granted; volunteering is a great way to feel some much needed appreciation. I also value the time I commit to Horizons4Girls because I know that I am making quality use of my time in my current state of transition.

My final and most important reason I know I made the right choice by volunteering my time to Horizons4Girls, is that I absolutely love working with Char and the girls. I've been with the group for a little over 3 months and the bonds I have made with the girls mean so much to me. I love collaborating with Char and seeing my ideas being incorporated successfully with the girls. I also really respect the role I have in the lives of the girls as a role model/mentor as well as the role Char has in my life as a role model/mentor. There is a beautiful continuum in the group where we are all learning and growing together on a personal and professional level. All things considered I know that my time spent volunteering with Horizons4Girls is far more valuable than my original concern of making money.
