

CALLING ALL VOLUNTEERS

Harvest Fest 1/2 Marathon

Help out at the Harvest Fest Half Marathon & 10K as a trail assistant. This year the event takes place on Saturday, September 26, 2015. We're still in need of volunteers for directing and refueling participants along the route. Proceeds from your entry help Horizons4Girls in our mission to inspire young women to fulfill their academic and personal goals. Sign Up Now

What does it mean to be a mentor?

Faith shares her story

Faith is just chilling and she says, "Shhhhhh.....be quiet, listen.....everyone is back in school. Now let me tell you about this mentoring thing. It's really pretty easy. I've only been doing it for a couple months, and I think I figured it out. I listen, really pay close attention to whoever's lap I am sitting on and just let her talk. I appreciate the time they spend with me and they love to tell me what's going on. Mom tries to plan some fun/interesting activities and they even let me come along. Yes, we have to do school work too, but we also get to do some fun things like cooking in the kitchen. Now they don't let me in the kitchen, but when they are done they bring out what they been making and I get to try it too! Then some times they are doing crafts and when they aren't looking I chase the ball of yarn and they have to find it. And, some of the interesting speakers talk about things like personal safety like Detective Remington. What's really cool is I don't need to fix anything....just pay attention and listen."

Faith wants to remind you to talk to mom (Char Pachniak) to find out more about this mentoring and how you can help.

And we are all proud of Faith who is now a Certified Therapy Dog through 'Paws for Friendship'.
